2012 Auto Theft Schools

The Texas DPS Criminal Investigations Division (CID) provides training for DPS personnel, as well as other peace officers, in the area of vehicle theft investigation and other related topics. This training is provided through basic and specialized auto theft investigation schools that are conducted throughout Texas for local, state, and federal officers.

The objective of this training is to provide auto theft investigators with the latest identification techniques available, as well as to provide basic detection methods for patrol officers on the street.
